 PROGRAM OVERVIEW
The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Operations and Supply Chain Management is designed to prepare students for a rewarding academic career. The program has a strong research orientation; our graduates go on to pursue high-quality research at leading academic institutions.

 PROGRAM BENEFITS
- Generous stipend and no tuition
- One-on-one attention from faculty
- Computing resources and funding for research and travel
- Rigorous coursework and a stimulating academic environment

 CAREER OPPORTUNITIES
Supply chain professors enjoy an excellent quality of life:

- Excellent starting salary (recent salaries well exceed $100,000)
- Flexible nine-month work schedule
- Intellectually stimulating work environments
- International travel opportunities
- Opportunities to teach tomorrow’s leaders
- Leadership positions in academic and professional societies
- Additional earning opportunities through executive education, grants and consulting

NATIONAL RECOGNITION
The Mays Supply Chain Ph.D. has been recognized as one of the top programs in the country.

Ranked 22nd U.S. overall Supply Chain Program, AMR Research (2014)

Ranked 9th U.S. Supply Chain Program, Gartner Group (2011)

Ranked 2nd in publishing in Production and Operations Management (2015)
AREAS OF EXCELLENCE
Mays supply chain faculty have conducted research in a variety of areas, including supply chain design and control, inventory management, production scheduling, product development, facility location, design of services, industrial contracting, logistics, manufacturing and supply-chain strategy, forecasting, behavioral operations management and information technology applications.

FINANCIAL PACKAGE
Doctoral student graduate assistantship provides a total package worth up to $31,500, including:

- Competitive stipend
- Additional summer support up to $4,000
- Medical/dental benefits
- No tuition
- Additional grants and fellowships
- Generous funding for travel and research

APPLY ONLINE AT MAYS.TAMU.EDU/GRADUATEAPPLICATION
Dec. 10  Early application by all Ph.D. applicants, particularly those seeking funding, is strongly encouraged (U.S. citizens, U.S. permanent residents, and international). Submitting by Dec. 10 allows applicants to be considered for all forms of financial support, including university, Mays and department fellowships.

April 15–May 25 Application closing begins as offers of admission are accepted.

CONTACT US
Chelliah Sriskandarajah
Professor and Ph.D. Program Advisor
scmphd@mays.tamu.edu
979-845-2796
320Q Wehner